

There are no specific mandates in regard to COVID-19 in the synagogue. Congregants are responsible to affect their own comfort level of safety. They may choose, but are not required to wear face masks, social distance and take any other hygiene precautions.